How/why the homepage uses cookies

Cookies are necessary for the homepage to function. Cookies help us get an overview of your visit to the homepage so that we can continually optimise and adjust the homepage to your requirements and interests. For example, cookies remember what you might have added to a shopping cart, if you have previously visited the page, if you are logged in and what languages and currency you want displayed on the homepage. We also use cookies to target our ads to you on other homepages. On a very general level, cookies are used as part of our services in order to show content that is as relevant as possible to you.

We use Cookie Information tool to manage cookies.

Analytics

The following analytics tools are used on the website: Google Analytics, Fonecta Snoobi, and Hotjar. The user can block the use of Technopolis's or third party's cookies in her/his web browser settings and/or for example by using Google Analytics opt-out software installed at <https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout> or YourOnlineChoices at <http://www.youronlinechoices.com>. Technopolis is not responsible for third party software or other tools used to block cookies, or from any other information or materials on third party websites.

Inception and changes to Terms of Use

These Terms of Use shall come into effect on November 30, 2020 and shall remain valid on a temporary basis.

Technopolis can, at any time, change these Terms of Use without separate notice. Changes to the Terms of Use shall come into effect in connection with the Technopolis change on the date specified. The user of the website accepts the changes as binding by using the web pages. Declaration of any of the Terms of Use to be illegal, invalid, void or non-executable in any respects shall not affect the Terms of Use in other respects.
